1. Introduction

In education, we can cultivate the humanistic quality of college students by tapping the potential of rich cultural implication in language teaching, widening communication channels in the construction of home page of campus network and permeating humanistic literacy education with Chinese and foreign literary classics and movies. Through the cultivation of these ways, the students trained by colleges and universities not only have scientific literacy, but also rich in humanistic spirit.

Abundant humanistic knowledge, profound humanistic details and extensive humanistic feelings are the indispensable contents of college education and the growth of college students. Modern university education is to train the humanistic spirit as the foundation of the overall development of both moral and talent talents. Scientific and technological progress is based on human liberal education. The construction of a harmonious socialist society depends on the humanistic quality education of college students. In the new era, China needs high-quality talents with good humanistic quality.

2. The Way of Tapping the Potential of Rich Cultural Implication in Language Teaching

Language is the most important tool for people to communicate. It is a set of symbol system of any culture in the form of sound and written words. The function of this kind of symbol is very important. It enables culture to enter the society and become something shared by the people in the society and the transmission of culture must depend on the language. The most important reason why modern people know and understand all kinds of history and culture is that they depend on the records of history written by predecessors. Without language, culture can not live forever. In his book on language, the famous American linguist Edward Sapir said: "Language does not exist apart from culture." That is, it does not exist apart from the general customs and beliefs that have been handed down from society and determine the outlook of our lives. "The past culture of this nation depends on it to spread and the future culture will depend on it to advance."

Chinese is the living fossil of history and culture. The relationship between Chinese word-making and traditional philosophy bodies the characteristics and uniqueness of Chinese traditional culture. Generally, the Chinese language and the traditional historical culture have the isomorphism relations. They are circulating in the historical river side by side.

There are many cultural phenomena or cultural products in Chinese history. Social customs and cultural concepts have long since disappeared or subsided with social changes. However, their "shadows" are still preserved in Chinese. Chinese language contains a lot of ancient cultural information as well as the historical and cultural spirit of the nation. Looking into the cultural origin of Chinese or the original meaning of the formation of Chinese characters, it can often reveal the mystery of Chinese history and culture and cultural psychology. Students love the language and culture of the motherland more.

For example, when the ancients created Chinese characters, people were the most commonly depicted objects. Many of the cultural creation activities of human beings are law-related. This is what the ancients called "close to the body".

In all the Chinese characters, the expression of human characters occupies a considerable proportion, which are composed purely of the whole or part of the human form. In addition, there are also a large number of Chinese characters which are composed of the human form and other forms. It can be seen that when the ancients created Chinese characters, they embodied the human-oriented spirit and the ancients respected life. People have realized the value and the role that people play in being human. However, in the process of making Chinese characters, some phenomena of neglecting human value and dignity have also appeared.

Therefore, teachers guide students to love the country and the traditional culture of the motherland in language teaching. Let students understand the great vitality and influence of Chinese traditional culture and realize that the Chinese nation is a nation with strong vitality and great potential. The Chinese nation is the nation with the deepest cultural heritage in the world. At the same time, teachers guide students to love the language of the Motherland and life. Guide the students to study and work hard for inheriting the Chinese traditional culture for using the Chinese language correctly and for the purity and health of the language. At the same time, in the process of teaching language, lead them to respect the value of life.

3. The Way of Building and Widening Communication Channels in the Construction of Home Page of Campus Network

In order to eliminate the harmful effects of some problems which are not conducive to the growth of students and nip some problems in the bud and from the standpoint of loving and educating students, campus administrators open "communication channels" section on the home page of the campus network. Since the opening of "communication channels" column, it received good results.

College students seem to have a greater sense of self-esteem and strong personality. They often put forward their independent opinions and maintain their independent personality on some issues. But they also can not avoid the fierce dispute between the classmates. They clashed with each other on some issues. In daily life, college students due to face inevitably some disharmonious notes. However, all barriers eliminate in the "communication channels".

They actively discuss and enhance the friendship between students.

This way achieves the goal of human literacy education. The “communication channels” in the university campus in interpersonal communication has basically played a positive role in communication. Some problems among college students have also been properly solved. It can be said that “communication channels” achieve the goal of human literacy education.

4. The Way of Permeating Humanistic Literacy Education with Chinese and Foreign Literary Classics and Movies

When teachers realized the educational function of film, they decided to take the exhibition of famous Chinese and foreign literature films as an educational means to build the platform of humanistic literacy education. Film is a comprehensive art which covers all kinds of art. For example, including the script, scriptwriter, producer, director, actors, photography, art, music, recording, clothing, props, make-up, editing and other art departments. In comparison with the means of expression and appeal of other arts, there is no doubt that the film has a more direct and effective in-depth and lasting power.

The film adapted from the famous works of our country will be shown to educate the students about patriotism, so as to improve their humanistic quality. The screenings include Shop of the Lin family, Silkworm in spring, Rickshaw Boy, Blessing, One and eight, The white-haired girl, Song of youth, Red flag spectrum, Early February, My life, Hibiscus Town, Legend of Tianyun Mountain and Red sorghum. Through this kind of humanistic quality education, College students have learned the quality of humanities.

The excellent films adapted from famous foreign literature works with humanistic spirit will be shown. The students will be exposed to humanistic education and artistic edification through rich film language. Films such as The Odyssey, The prince's Revenge, Notre Dame de Paris, Tess, The for Whom the Bell Tolls, The old man and the sea, Mother, Anna Karenina, War and peace, A tale of two cities and so on. In these films, students have learned humanism education.

5. Conclusion

Through the above work, we have made some beneficial attempts on how to carry on the humanities accomplishment education and the establishment of humanities accomplishment education platform in the university campus. These attempts show its initial success. Inevitably, there are inadequacies and inadequacies. To improve the cultural quality of college students is one of the main purposes of higher education. In college education, the humanistic quality of college students can be cultivated through the in-depth exploration of rich cultural connotations in language teaching, the construction of campus network home page and the construction of communication channels and the infiltration of Chinese and foreign literary classics and movies into humanistic quality education. Strengthening students' cultural quality education is an important part of further deepening teaching reform and improving the quality of college education.

As an important component of liberal education, colleges should also attach great importance to fostering students' sense of social responsibility and developing their correct outlook on the world and values, while cultivating their professional skills, and healthy psychological quality. These make them become all-round development of the people. The teachers should innovate all kinds of ways, making great efforts to improve the humanistic quality of college students and cultivating all-round development talents. At present, teachers should change their educational concepts by reforming educational models and methods and paying attention to the cultivation of students' humanistic quality while continuing to strengthen the teaching of professional knowledge. There are rich resources of human liberal education in teaching by building and widening communication channels in the construction of home page of campus network. Chinese and foreign literary masterpieces and films permeate the education of humanistic quality. These are the main ways to improve the humanistic quality of college students.

As students, they should also attach great importance to their own human literacy. They are aware of their own shortcomings, purposefully to improve their human literacy while learning professional courses and reading more books to increase the humanities knowledge reserve.
